Fund commentary

The Russell Investments Hedged Global Shares Fund outperformed the benchmark in October.

Contributing to outperformance was strong stock selection in the UK; much of which was driven by our UK equity specialist, JO Hambro. This included an ex-benchmark exposure to McCarthy & Stone – a developer and manager of retirement communities – and an underweight to drug maker AstraZeneca. Stock selection in the US also added value; notably an underweight to Apple, which fell as US technology stocks sold off toward the end of the month. Apple remains our largest underweight holding as we believe the stock is significantly overvalued. The Fund also benefited from positive stock selection within emerging markets, including overweights to China's NIO, Inc. and Taiwanese names MediaTek and Taiwan Semiconductor Manufacturing Co.; all of which delivered good gains for the month. Meanwhile, the Fund's active positioning strategy (APS) outperformed in October. Our APS complements the Fund's active managers, ensuring reliable exposure to our strategic beliefs at the total portfolio level. The strategy is currently positioned in favour of value and quality to complement our strategic factor positioning. Value is now as cheap as it's been since 2000, while our more defensive quality exposure aims to reduce risk and lower beta. Value, particularly deeper value names, performed well over the period while quality stocks underperformed.

Stock selection in South Africa modestly detracted from overall returns in October. This included an overweight to AngloGold Ashanti, which fell in line with weaker gold prices over the period. Stock selection in Japan also had a modest negative impact on returns; notably an ex-benchmark exposure to travel agency H.I.S.Co. and an overweight to engineering firm JGC Corp. Other notable holdings to detract from performance were an underweight to China's Meituan Dianping and overweights to Italy's Nexi S.p.A and Swiss pharmaceutical company Roche Holding AG.

There were no material changes to either the Fund's structure or manager line up in October. In terms of overall positioning, we increased our overweights to Japan, the UK, emerging markets and Asia Pacific ex Japan over the period. We also reduced the Fund's overweight to Continental Europe and increased our underweight to North America. At the sector level, the Fund is most overweight financials, consumer discretionary and materials, and most underweight consumer staples, healthcare and real estate.
